REVIVIFY®
RESTORES WELL-BEING

A source of energy & strength

Well-being is a perception that people have of their health when their lives are going well. It is associated with good health, longevity, mental and physical health and stamina, productivity and other factors in the physical and social environment.

Steady energy levels, physical endurance and overall strength are key factors in a person's perception of well-being. Studies show that through the cellular reparations made possible with Revivify® that Revivify® products play a key role in repairing, building and sustaining the energy levels and physical and mental strength that are important to leading a healthy, productive life.

Special benefits for women

Women face many physical and emotional phases during their life cycle and Revivify®, can be beneficial in every phase. With its reparative properties, Revivify® offers relief from the discomfort associated with a woman's monthly cycle; lessens the likelihood, frequency and intensity of urinary infections; provides relief from and lessens the severity of acne outbreaks and more.

Look and feel your best

With aging and other environmental pollutants, the skin loses its elasticity and firmness, producing wrinkles and other visible signs of aging at the surface level. The skin, as a protective organ, bares the brunt of countless environmental hazards such as UV light exposure, harsh temperature variations, stress effects and other hazardous toxins. Of all the organs, the skin especially faces the most oxidative stress and therefore, needs healthy skin microbes, sufficient energy and adequate lipid and water balances in order to repair itself.

It's no secret that women especially actively and regularly seek out ways to minimize these effects, improve their appearance and lesson the signs of aging. Good, reliable skin care plays a major role in achieving these goals and achieving these goals also plays a key role in a person's self-confidence and therefore, happiness.

Since ancient times, the antioxidant properties of fruit juices have made them prominent ingredients in all successful skin care regimens. Super oxide SOD is also now often found in many high-end, expensive cosmetics for this same reason, and increasingly, soluble fiber too. However, these expensive cosmetics have only temporary effects because they only work at the surface level. Revivify® gel delivers all three of these important features in one convenient, affordable, delicious pouch that is consumed so that it can work at the molecular level with lasting effects.

— THE PROOF IS IN THE PATENT —

Multiple studies have been conducted so far and many more are still underway with findings scheduled for publication in respected medical and health journals and others presented at multiple medical conventions. The positive attention and interest in Revivify® products by the medical and health community is strong!

We are proud to have obtained a patent for this revolutionary product and still have other patents still in the works, all a part of the Revivify® next generation of health supplements. Our patent is proof of our supplements' potency, the quality of its delivery of precious nutrients to the body and the overall effectiveness of the Revivify® concept.

What is Revivify® Gel?

Revivify® gel is a dietary/food supplement with an integrated composition that benefits healthy living, well-being, anti-aging and longevity.

How does Revivify® help?

Revivify® reduces toxicity in the body.

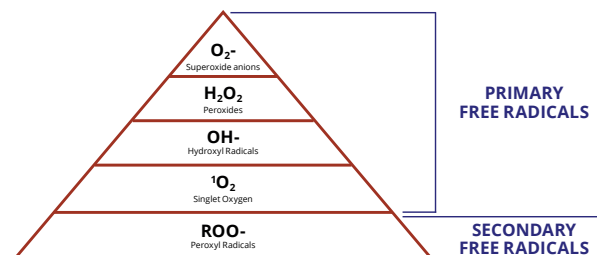

Today's environmental atmosphere has created health challenges like external environmental pollution and internal cellular by-product toxicity. As a result, the body's natural healing process has been compromised and needs supplemental assistance to properly combat these toxins.

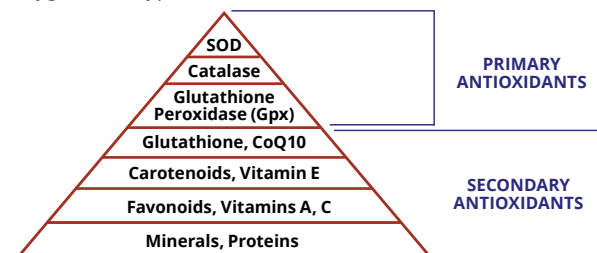

The healing power of nature recognizes the body's inherent ability to heal itself. This begins at the cellular level. The building blocks of the body — cells — are dynamic, living units that are constantly work toward self-repair and regeneration. The body works hard on its own to support recovery from injury and illness, as illustrated by the natural healing of a simple cut. Damaged or dead cells are replaced daily and any pathogenic intervention is controlled by effective and quick immune cells response in order to maintain health and well-being.

Industrial modernization is responsible for atmospheric pollutions that affect this healing process. Pollutants are found all around us and are unavoidable in today's world, running the gamut UV-radiation to toxic gases, smoke, various water contaminants, pesticides, antibiotic residuals, etc.

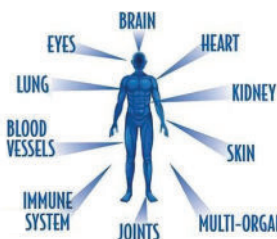

Internal toxicity that effects general healing processes may include aging, excess free radicals and the imbalance of ROS/RNS etc. The most common free radicals are super oxide, hydroxyl free-radicals, peroxyl radicals, peroxynitrite, singlet oxygen, and hypochlorite.

The body produces its own defense system to counteract these free radicals, which are known as primary and secondary antioxidants. The antioxidant enzyme that is known to combat the popular super oxide free radical is SUPER OXIDE DISMUTASE [SOD]. It plays a vital role in protecting the body from one of the most common and harmful free radicals that occurs regularly.

Stress and anxiety are slow-cooking health hazards that increase oxidative stress, negatively affecting all organs.

Thus, it can be summarized that external pollutants, food preparations, aging and other factors impact general health negatively, leaving the body poorly equipped to repair itself on its own.

What is the solution?

The best solution is to take Revivify® gel daily.

Revivify® antioxidant dietary supplement is the only product with the best antioxidant, anti-inflammatory and immunity boosting ingredients, patent granted and clinically evaluated.

Why Revivify® is superior

Revivify® studies confirm that Revivify® neutralizes all of the major free radicals, has strong antioxidant and anti-inflammation properties and is effective on improving the immune system. These biological activities reduce the risk of age-related health hazards including neurological functions, cardiovascular functions, metabolic functions, colon functions, skin functions, etc. Most importantly, the maintenance of healthy immune cells prompts correct immune responses to pathogens.

Revivify® is the only product in the market which addresses both cellular health as well as a healthy gut-microbe ecosystem. Reducing oxidative stress and gut-microbes are important in maintaining overall health. Our proprietary blend of melon sourced super oxide dismutase (patented), soluble prebiotic fiber (patented), and diverse collection of polyphenol from multiple fruit juices all work towards cellular restorations and a strong gut-microbe ecosystem. (The finished product is also patented.) As a result, Revivify® gel is a unique concept developed specifically to improve healthy living, anti-aging, well-being and longevity.

Revivify® is the only choice

Revivify® is a unique formulation composition that supports oral delivery system of the antioxidant defense enzyme, SOD; maximum polyphenols; active metabolites and bio-availability; and beneficial gut microbe modulation. Revivify® is the only dietary supplement that has diverse and significant health benefits due to its strong antioxidant and anti-inflammatory properties as well as enhanced immune and anti-infective capabilities.

It is virtually impossible to consume the minimum number of antioxidants we need daily simply through what we eat. Revivify® antioxidant gel is tailored to provide you with the full daily requirement in one easy-to-consume, delicious gel packed with secondary antioxidants from the juices of pomegranates, concord grapes, blueberries, dark and sweet cherries, goji berries, acai berries, and aloe-Vera, along with polyphenols from resveratrol and green tea extract.

With just one gel per day, your body can properly protect itself from degenerative health conditions and experience steady state energy levels all while silently working as a shield to protect your cellular structures, integrity and functions.

Completed studies and ongoing research on Revivify® products have shown impressive results that have attracted global attention.
